"Although I am a long-time Hong Kong resident, the tour was an incredible way to get a very different perspective on the city. From a slow cruise past HK's gorgeous skyline, to a run around the guts of the bustling container port (where we got up close to megaships being loaded and unloaded) the day was jam packed with great scenery and interesting insights.

The information provided by our guide about what we were seeing from the boat, Hong Kong's history, and the important role the ocean plays and has played in Hong Kong's development was just right. Funny, interesting, and just enough to give you background on what you were seeing to add to your enjoyment as the boat chugged past the topic of the discussion. A fantastic way to spend a day, thank you Hello Hong Kong."
